Draft Your Team for Hoop Dreams and Field of Dreams

You've smashed fastballs over your own Green Monster to win the World Series and swished three-pointers to beat LeBron in your driveway. You've dreamed of batting at Fenway Park, where Babe Ruth once roamed, or having Doc Rivers and Brad Stevens on your sideline as your basketball team battled for the title.

Now, you can live out your dreams for real, thanks to ABCD, the Boston Red Sox and Boston Celtics.

Challenge your company's rival to a softball game at Fenway Park Tuesday, June 18th or take them on in the corporate basketball tournament at the Auerbach Center Tuesday, September 3rd.

The only other way to play on that practice parquet is to be a Celtic!

Your team sponsorship will support ABCD's youth programs and help hundreds of low income teens.

Clients will soon be able to use the new online Front Door Eligibility Guide to help identify the services they qualify for at ABCD with someone to support them .

Our goal is to help our clients move from poverty to stability and from stability to success by helping them receive the full range of human services they need.

Capital One Sponsors Computers and Online Banking Classes for Elders

The 21st century has brought sweeping changes. Just ask Alexa, and she'll play your favorite song. Tap an app, and Lyft will pick you up in minutes. But many seniors have to resort to asking their grandchildren to look something up on "the Google." They're not comfortable with computers, and they're certainly not at ease with paying their bills online.

But thanks to a new ABCD partnership with Capital One, low income seniors have the opportunity to learn basic computer skills through the Tech Goes Home® computer literacy program and get a handle on personal finances and online banking through Ready, Set, Bank®. These innovative programs combine classroom instruction at ABCD neighborhood centers and our central Elder Services office with interactive online workshops that offer step-by-step guidance.

The ABCD - Capital One partnership will provide computer and financial literacy trainings to 200 low-income senior clients. To keep our seniors online and on track, everyone who completes the Tech Goes Home training will receive a Chromebook, thanks to Capital One's generous support.

Do you know a low income person age 55+ who would benefit from this program? Please contact Anne Corbin, Director of Elder Services, at anne.corbin@bostonabcd.org or 617-348-6449.

Thank you to Team ABCD for representing our organization. Also, thank you to everyone who donated and supported them and this important cause of combating hunger.

Melinda and Ayriah Thrive Thanks to Head Start's Holistic Approach

When she was two months pregnant, Melinda Webb learned the baby she was carrying would be born with Down Syndrome -- and had a heart defect that would require open heart surgery. It was staggering news. Melinda, who works with the elderly and typically logged 60 hours a week, wondered how she would care for a child with such serious health issues and special needs.

The drama intensified. Three months after her beautiful daughter Ayriah was born and just two days before her heart surgery was to take place, Ayriah died -- for three minutes. Miraculously, the medical team resuscitated her, and the surgery took place as scheduled on February 13, 2017. Ayriah had a "new" heart on Valentine's Day.

Melinda's three other children, Nakeo, 22, Andrelle, 18, and Sandrelle, 16, showered their baby sister with love. That has been a great comfort and source of joy. Still, Melinda knew that Ayriah needed not only education and care but also social and emotional supports.

She found it at ABCD's Early Head Start program.
